

It Is Results That Count

When a sick man seeks the aid of a physician it is not with the idea of ascertaining what school he graduated from or what line of practice he represents. The thought uppermost in his mind is, can I obtain relief; how soon and lastly, what will the treatment cost me? The first two questions can usually be answered satisfactorily, the last one rarely if ever by the average doctor. On the other hand, in the treatment of all diseases included in our specialty WE ASSUME THE RISK, as we treat each case for a stated fee, which is always as reasonable as is consistent with good services and attention, FURNISH ALL MEDICINES and dressings when needed and everything else necessary to complete the cure AND STILL MORE IMPORTANT IF A CURE DOES NOT RESULT OUR SERVICES COSTS ONE NOTHING provided the patient follows our instructions and directions. Our offices are thoroughly equipped for the scientific treatment of Chronic, Nervous, Blood and Private Diseases and we extend an invitation to all sufferers to call FOR CONSULTATION, EXAMINATION AND ADVICE which is FREE and does not obligate one in any way.

CATARH Among the many diseases which affect the human system, Nasal Catarrh is one of the most prevalent and liable to a greater variety of dangerous complications. In its development the senses of smell, taste, hearing and sight suffer more or less, the throat and lungs often become involved. PINOZONE, a gas formed by a combination of ozone and pine oil generated by a special machine which we have recently installed is producing some remarkable cures in the most obstinate cases. WE CURE SOME CASES FOR TEN DOLLARS.

DISEASES OF MEN In the treatment of the Special Pelvic Diseases of Men, we have devised, developed and perfected remedies that have for years given perfect satisfaction. No other treatment in our opinion is as effective, prompt and permanent in results. In connection with the above we have given particular time and attention to the treatment of LOSS OF VIGOR, LOSSES AND DRAINS, ERRORS OF DEVELOPMENT and all private diseases and weaknesses. It is not necessary to wait months for results. Our remedies are applied directly and relief is prompt and permanent.

DISEASES OF WOMEN All that class of diseases often referred to as Female Complaints, for which an operation is usually suggested and a removal of some of the vital organs performed, can in nearly every instance be cured by mild and painless methods of which we have made a specialty for years. We have recently fitted up a special department for the treatment of these troubles and have secured the services of a practical lady nurse who is always in attendance. Do not submit to an operation before consulting us; if an operation is absolutely necessary, we will advise it.

RUPTURE We can cure any case of rupture that can be retained with any kind of truss in three to five days if it has not been operated upon. No detention from business, pain or other discomfort is experienced from the treatment. WE GUARANTEE A CURE IN ALL CASES ACCEPTED or money refunded.

THE SEA OF GALILEE

FRANK G. CARPENTER DESCRIBES THE HOLY LAKE ABOUT WHICH CHRIST AND HIS APOSTLES LIVED.

The New Excavations of Capernaum—Digging Out the Synagogue Where Jesus Actually Preached—Tiberias and Its Hot Springs—A Visit to Cana, And the Place of the Sermon on the Mount—How Galilee Looks in Storm and Calm—Talks With the Fishermen.

(Copyright, 1910, by Frank G. Carpenter.)

TIBERIAS, Palestine, Jan. 30.—I am in a fisherman's skiff on the Sea of Galilee. We have just left Tiberias, the ancient city of Herod, near the southern end of the lake, and are on our way to Capernaum, where Christ lived and preached—that white spot which you can see on the shore at the north. It seems strange that one can carry the whole Sea of Galilee in his eye. I have always considered it as only a little less than an ocean or, at least, as big as the largest of our great fresh water lakes. The truth is it is only a puddle compared to Lake Michigan. It is about half as large as Lake Cayuga, at Ithaca, N. Y., and standing on any of the hills which rise precipitously about it, the whole body of water can plainly be seen.

A Bird's Eye View. The Sea of Galilee is only six miles at its widest part from east to west, and from where the Jordan flows in at the north to the place where it empties out at the south the distance is a

A NOTRE DAME LADY'S APPEAL

To all knowing sufferers of rheumatism, whether muscular or of the joints, sciatica, lumbago, backache, pains in the kidneys or neuralgia pains, to write to her for a home treatment which has repeatedly cured all of these troubles. She feels it her duty to send it to all sufferers FREE. You cure yourself at home as thousands will testify—no change of climate being necessary. This simple discovery banishes uric acid from the blood, loosens the stiffened joints, purifies the blood, and brightens the eyes, giving elasticity and tone to the whole system. If the above interests you, for proof address Mrs. M. Summers, Box R. Notre Dame, Ind.

Facts for Weak Women

Nine-tenths of all the sickness of women is due to some derangement or disease of the organs distinctly feminine. Such sickness can be cured—irresistibly every day by

Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription

It Makes Weak Women Strong. Sick Women Well.

It acts directly on the organs affected and is at the same time a general restorative tonic for the whole system. It cures female complaint right in the privacy of home. It makes unnecessary the disagreeable questioning, examinations and local treatment so universally insisted upon by doctors, and so abhorrent to every modest woman.

We shall not particularize here as to the symptoms of those peculiar affections incident to women, but those wanting full information as to their symptoms and means of positive cure are referred to the People's Common Sense Medical Adviser—1008 pages, newly revised and up-to-date Edition, sent free on receipt of 21 one-cent stamps to cover cost of mailing only; or, in cloth binding for 31 stamps.

man wading breast deep into the water. The net is a great ring or disk of lead weighted with lead. It takes the shape of a dome as it sinks, falling upon the fish it incloses. After this the fisherman dives down and draws the leads together and carries net and fish to the banks. Much fish-lore of this kind is done near the village of Magdala. Another net is a dragnet, with floats at the top with leads at the bottom. This is usually worked from boats which carry the nets, so that they form a loop and scoop in the fish. Among the fish caught are excellent bass, some of which we have had at the hotel. An especially curious fish is that known as the chromis simonis, the male of which carries the eggs and young about in its mouth.

The Lake in a Storm. The storms come up quickly on Galilee. I have seen several since I arrived in Tiberias and have experienced one or two on the sea. The day I landed in the midst of a storm, the wind was blowing from the north, and the sea was rolling to and fro, not unlike those of the ocean. The clouds hung low over the waters and great masses of black rain fell from the hills down which the swine ran. The boats were tossed in this way and that, and at times it seemed they might sink. It was during such a storm, in a similar boat, that the apostles came to our Lord, who was sleeping, and begged Him to save them. He arose and rebuked the waves, and lo, it was calm.

At the time of another storm He was not with them, having gone up into a mountain apart to pray. The ship was in the midst of the sea, tossed by the waves, when the disciples saw Him walking on the water. They were troubled, and thought Him a spirit and cried out for fear. It was at that time that Jesus said, "Be of good cheer; it is I; be not afraid."

And you remember how Peter tried to go to Him, and how, when he saw the wind boisterous, his heart failed him and he began to sink. Jesus stretched forth His hand and caught him, saying: "O thou of little faith, wherefore didst thou doubt?" And when they were come into the ship the wind ceased.

The Capernaum of Today. The boatmen are lowering the sails and we are gliding to the shores of Capernaum. They are now covered with rich meadows, among which here and there stretched forth the land and crops of fast growing grain. From the houses we see no signs that a city once stood on the spot. The only evidence of life is a low, gray, one-story monastery belonging to the Franciscans, who are excavating the ruins and digging them out of the sand. The ruins of the old city are now several hundred acres, running east and west along the beach and extending for a mile, perhaps up the hills. Some of their lands are under cultivation, and there are orchards of lemons, oranges and almonds to the east of their buildings.

We land at a wharf and enter a door in the walls which surround the excavations. I make myself acquainted with the father, Wandelin, an austere-looking man, who speaks German. He takes me around and shows me the results of the work. He says they are digging up what is believed to be the actual synagogue in which Jesus in Christ taught when he came here from Nazareth. As you must remember, Capernaum was His home, and it was from here that He took the most of His disciples. Here Simon, Jesus' wife's mother, who lay sick of the fever and here and there with the wickedness of the city. He said:

"And thou, Capernaum, which art exalted unto heaven, shall be brought down to hell; for if the mighty works which have been done in thee had been done in Sodom, it would have remained until this day."

The prophecy, then uttered, has long since come to pass. The city of Capernaum is not. And it is only now that the excavation of these monks is showing its ruins.

A Church Where Christ Preached. The synagogue which is being dug up shows the splendor of the ancient city. I walked around its boundaries. It was 54 feet long and 72 feet wide, facing the sea. Its front was a mass of marble columns, and it was built in two stories, the upper of which was for the women. Many of the columns have been excavated to the height of my head. The columns are three feet thick, smoothly finished, and exquisitely carved. The marble work is that which was common in Rome shortly before the time of Christ, and much of it is un injured.

So far only a small portion of the ground on which the city has stood has been explored. There are a thousand acres or so left that in all probability contain valuable ruins, which when exposed, may cast new light upon the days and time of the Savior. At present the work is managed by a close corporation. The Franciscan monks will not permit relics to be taken away, and they forbid the use of cameras. Father Wendelin carries a long black snake whip with him, and I am told that he uses it if he is not obeyed. The other day a woman tourist brought a camera under her coat and was caught, whereupon he laid hold of her and threw her out of the place.

The City of Herod. I am stopping at Tiberias in a little German hotel, where I have a comfortable room at a cost of a day. Tiberias is the largest settlement on the sea. It lies on the western shore, at the southern end, within a mile or so of the Horns of Hattin, where it is said Christ delivered the sermon on the Mount. It is only a short ride by boat from where the Jordan flows out to the Dead Sea, and from Semak, where the railroad now goes north on its way from Haifa to Damascus.

The city was the capital of Galilee, and it was at the height of its prosperity when Christ was living at Capernaum. It was founded by Herod Antipas, the son of Herod, the baby killer, and was named after the Roman emperor Tiberius. It was constructed while Christ was living in Nazareth, and was a new and thriving city during His residence at Capernaum. It is doubtful that He ever visited it for the Bible does not mention His doing so.

Tiberias had a palace and a race course in those days, and after the destruction of Jerusalem it became the chief seat of the Jewish nation. It is still one of the three holy cities of the Jews, and it has many Israelites among its citizens. They go about in long coats and caps bound with fur, and are noted for their piety and for their knowledge of the Talmud. Many of the Jews are Spaniards who have come here to live on account of the holiness of the city.

Tiberias in 1910. The Tiberias of 1910 is not attractive. It is a mass of gray stone and brick buildings, with flat roofs painted white. The streets are narrow, dirty and filthy, and the Arabs have a saying that "the stink of the fleas lives here." The human population is something like eight thousand, of whom about two-thirds are Jews and the remainder Mohammedans and Christians. The Jews have 10 synagogues, and there is also a Mohammedan mosque. The northern limits of the place are marked by the ruins of the Roman town, and the remains of its walls and a gate are still standing.

There are hot springs on the shores of the lake a half mile from the city which are still used and which were famous in the time of the Romans. They are in many respects similar to those of Carlsbad, the waters containing sulphur, chloride of magnesium and iron. They are good for skin diseases, and if they were under American management might be made to pay well. One of the most interesting and valuable institutions in this city is the hospital belonging to the Scottish missionaries, and managed by Dr. Torrence of Edinburgh. It has thousands of patients a year, and is doing great good.

Cana of Galilee. I came here from Nazareth, riding over the mountains of Galilee in a carriage. The road is fairly good, although it is up or down hill all the way. About six miles from Nazareth I stopped at the village of Cana, where our Lord visited the wedding feast and turned the water into wine. I even saw the stone jars or tubs which the people who own one of the churches there say were the original jars which were used at that time. They are kept inside the church, and it took several fees to get to them. They are great limestone receptacles, looking much like mortars, and it is likely that they have been used for the crushing of wheat by means of a pestle. I took a photograph of one standing beside a well, and, resting my camera on a stool, my guide pressed the button.

I also visited the spring at Cana. There is only one, and it must have been from there that the water which was turned into wine was drawn. Four camels, six sheep and two cows were drinking at it as I stopped, and a half dozen girls with their water bags were waiting for their family supply. It is probable that Cana was much larger and more prosperous in the days of our Savior than now.

MIMBRES VALLEY IS LIKE POMONA

But Excels the California District in Abundance of Water Supply.

Deming, N. M., Jan. 21.—Pumping and irrigation in the Mimbres valley have been compared most favorably with the district of Pomona, situated 50 miles east of the city of Los Angeles, Cal.

But the Mimbres valley excels in that it has a more abundant water

Terrible Suffering

Eczema All Over Baby's Body. "When my baby was four months old his face broke out with eczema, and at sixteen months of age, his face, hands and arms were in a dreadful state. The eczema spread all over his body. We had to put a mask or cloth over his face and tie up his hands. Finally we gave him Hood's Sarsaparilla and in a few months he was entirely cured. Today he is a healthy boy." Mrs. Inez Lewis, Barling, Maine. Hood's Sarsaparilla cures blood diseases and builds up the system. supply, the pumping depth is only half that of the California district, the price of alfalfa is higher, the climate is better and an acre of land here can be bought for $300 and the area of land reclaimable is four times as great as the whole Pomona district.

Water there occurs in several sand and gravel strata, but it is necessary to sink a well to a depth of 500 or 1000 feet to secure enough water to supply a pump which will furnish from 500 to 900 gallons per minute and a 500 gallon well is considered a good one in this district.

The underflow is supplied by rainfall in the mountains five miles north of Pomona and about 30 square miles drain into it, necessitating the construction of wing dams in order to hold the water coming from the gulches until it seeps into the ground.

About 15 years ago irrigation by pumping was first started there, and about five years ago a big spurt was taken. From there the water was turned into 20 acre ditches and sold at from $8 to $25 per acre. Some of the land was given away by the promoters to men who understood how to farm and encourage others.

Now the property is worth from $160 an acre when located 15 miles from town, and $400 is considered cheap for land within five miles of the town. The Pomona district has the advantage over the Mimbres valley in that it has been developed for 15 years. Fuel is cheaper, gasoline costing only 8-1-2 cents per gallon. The rainfall is heavier by seven inches than that in this district.
